HALF MILLION MILES TRAVEL FOR METHODIST MISSIONS RECORD OF DR. TAYLOR

Speaks at Knoxville and Jacksonville Centenary Conventions With Other Noted Methodists In Interest of $105,000,000 Campaign.

Half a million miles in the interest of Christian missions is the record of Dr. J. M. Taylor, one of the chief speakers at the big Methodist Episcopal Centenary conventions, scheduled for Jacksonville, Florida, April 8 and 9, and Knoxville, Tennessee, April 10 and 11. His latest trip, taken in connection with the world-wide missionary survey of the Methodist church, embraced a mere matter of 75,000 miles.

A native Tennesseean, Dr. Taylor, has become one of the most noted workers in the missionary field, and in his travels among half-civilized and savage countries have served to make him an authority on them. His address, which was received with unbounded enthusiasm at a large Chicago Methodist Centenary convention, similar to the ones at Jacksonville and Knoxville, deals with "America and the World Map."

The world cannot be made safe for democracy while there exist in it hundreds of millions who will go to bed hungry tonight, never having had a satisfactory meal in their lives," says the noted missionary.

"Safety for world democracy is similar to the problem of prohibition. We found local option would not work. It was better than nothing, but saloons in one state partially nullified the dry conditions in another. Nation-wide prohibition was the solution. So with the solution of the world situation today. The only way to have democracy safe in America is to wipe out the festering sores of the world, to make the world safe for democracy.

Many Noted Missionaries.

At the big Centenary conventions, many other noted missionaries, church workers and organizers will be present to assist in lining up the Chattanooga and Jacksonville Areas preparatory to the intensive financial campaign of May 18 to 25. Among those who will be present are: W. A. Brown, for many years field secretary for the International Sunday School Association; W. E. Doughty, executive secretary of the department of spiritual resources; Ralph S. Cushman, head of the stewardship department of the Methodist Centenary Campaign; Dr. A. C. Goddard, Chattanooga area secretary; F. W. Atkins, campaign director for the South; H. C. Wilson, national southern representative; C. S. Ward, national campaign director.

C. S. Ward, now speaking for the Centenary Movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is one of the best known "drive" men in the country. The list of his activities in this direction is as long as the list of activities itself, for he has been connected with nearly all, if not all of them. He has personally directed campaigns, raising a total of $580,000,000 for patriotic and benevolent purposes. In his opinion the drive undertaken by the Methodist Church for $105,000,000, in connection with that of the Methodist Church, South, for $35,000,000, will be more successful than any of the drives which have been conducted.

Wilson in Charge of Booth.

The Methodist Centenary work in the South is in the hands of H. C. Wilson, superintendent of the department of institutes of the Methodist Board of Sunday Schools. The territory is divided into three areas—Chattanooga, Atlanta and New Orleans being the headquarters—and Centenary work is going on apace everywhere.

"People are beginning to realize that the word 'democracy' is not just an idle expression," declares Mr. Wilson. "They are learning that the world can not be reconstructed by a formula—that no international constitution, however perfect its phrasing, can produce democracy. There is only one force that can bring it about, and that is Christianity, for Christian means democracy.

"I think the South is bearing its share of sending the light to the four corners of the earth as nobly as it can be done. With the widow's mite and the rich man's millions the greatest drive by any church in the history of Christianity is being carried on everywhere."

City Council Calls Special Election For City Officers on Thursday, May 8th

REMOVES MAYOR J. K. CONN--MAYOR PRO TEM KING WILL ACT AS MAYOR UNTIL ELECTION

St. Cloud's City Council held a special meeting in the city hall this Tuesday morning that began soon after 10 o'clock and lasted about an hour and at which several very important matters were presented and disposed of, to-wit:

City Attorney Crawford notified the council that the court injunction restraining it from proceeding with the impeachment charges preferred against Mayor Conn on Jan. 17 had been dismissed.

Proceeded with the impeachment proceedings and heard testimony on two of the charges.

Deposed the mayor from office by a unanimous vote of five.

Unanimously voted to not elect a mayor in Mr. Conn's place—as permitted by the city's laws.

Thus Councilman King, as mayor pro tem, will act as mayor until an election has been held.

Instructed the mayor pro tem to call an election to replace those city officers whose terms have expired.

Adopted a resolution forbidding any meetings in the city hall other than those of the incumbent City Council or meetings sanctioned by it.

Mayor Pro Tem King calls a special city election for May 8.

Court Dismisses Injunction Granted To Mayor

All members of the City Council sat at the council table—W. G. King, N. H. Washburn, C. Z. Lippincott, F. B. Kenney, and Z. T. McClay. City Attorney Crawford also attended.

Mayor Conn being absent, Mayor Pro Tem King presided.

The first business was a short oral statement by the city attorney to the effect that the court injunction granted to Mayor Conn in the latter part of last January by Circuit Judge Perkins had been dismissed the day before (Monday, April 7) because its date of limitation had expired and the mayor had not appeared before the judge for further hearing in the matter. This places on the mayor the costs of the injunction proceedings

This was the injunction restraining St. Cloud's City Council from proceeding with the impeachment proceedings it began against Mayor Conn on Jan. 14, the mayor's sins of omission and commission being set forth as follows:

J. K. Conn, as mayor of the said city of St. Cloud, Florida, be and he is hereby impeached as mayor of said city of St. Cloud, Florida, for official misconduct and willful neglect of duty, and upon the following grounds:

First—That he caused a special election to be held on this date contrary to law.

Third—That he ignored the law in in appointing night policemen and special policemen.

Third—That he igored the law in conducting the mayor's court.

Fourth—That he failed to make reports required of him.

Council Makes Brief Work Of Ousting Mayor

Attorney Crawford went on to say that it now was within the council's province to proceed with the case

St. Cloud Motor Club To Boost For New Route Direct to Orlando

ORGANIZATION STARTED BY J. EDWARD KRAUSE WILL HAVE ENOUGH MEMBERS TO ENABLE IT TO JOIN STATE ASSOCIATION WHEN MEETING IS HELD HERE WEDNESDAY.

J. Edward Krause, one of Indiana's largest hotel managers and also owner of some of Florida's fine orange groves, and who makes his winter home near Narcoossee, visited Orlando last Friday and started a movement to get a new route from St. Cloud to Orlando—a direct route thru Narcoossee.

His proposition met with favorable response immediately by the members of the State Automobile Association then in Orlando.

The road is to be extended northward from Narcoossee to Orlando. The asphalt road to Narcoossee being already built, would leave only three miles to build in Osceola county, with ten miles more in Orange county.

This would make a loop through this city, Narcoossee, Orlando, and Kissimmee and back here which soon would become the most popular driveway in this section.

Orlando Newspaper's Account.

The Orlando Sentinel of last Saturday says of the meeting at Orlando:

J. Edward Krause, owner of several hotels in Indianapolis, Ind., and orange groves in Osceola county, has just enlisted the services of the Florida State Automobile Association in the project of getting completed that part of the road from Conway to the lately finished asphalt road at Narcoossee.

"A meeting is being arranged for next Wednesday, to be held at St. Cloud, at which time will be completed the organization of the St. Cloud Motor Club.

"Mr. Krause and his delegation have agreed to secure the necessary members for the State Association, and this club will have for its immediate object first the completion of the above mentioned thirteen miles of road.

"Mr. Krause states that Osceola has only three miles of this road to construct, and that Orange county's part is ten miles, making a total of only thirteen miles to complete in order to open up to automobilists a wonderful drive thru a very interesting part of Orange county and give Orlando a more direct route to the East Coast via Melbourne; also a beautiful circuit via Kissimmee, St. Cloud, Narcoossee, and back to Orlando.

"A number of members of the Orlando Motor Club will attend the meeting, which will be held in St. Cloud on Wednesday of next week."

Terms Of Membership In Club.

Mr. Krause returned home (to Narcoossee and St. Cloud) and proceeded to obtain members for a St. Cloud motor club, organization of which will be perfected at a meeting to be held here next Wednesday morning, when a delegation of members of the State Automobile Association will visit the city.

The local club must comprise fifteen or more members to obtain membership in the State Association. The annual dues will be $10.

Members in the association are entitled to all the benefits of any club in the country, and included also are an official emblem to be placed on the radiator of the car of the member, a new road map of the State of Florida, and a year's subscription to the Florida Motorist (a publication issued for the general information of automobile owners).

Organization Of Club Assured.

Mr. Krause already has obtained applications of E. F. Lockwood, W. G. Peckham, C. B. Buckley, L. E Voorheis, Roxey Anderson, W. H. Tunnicliffe, G. H. Flint, C. E. Carlson, C. F. Johnson, and S. J. Entrikin, and he stated to the Tribune today that by the time the meeting with the Orlando delegtaion is held, next Wednesday, there would be more than enough to organize a club as a branch of the State Association

The State Automobile Association, by co-operating with local clubs and with Boards of County Commissioners, is marking all highways and lateral roadways in the State with uniform information signboards. A large signboard is to be placed in the center of the city to tell tourists that a motor club, where general information may be obtained, is located in St. Cloud, and permission has been asked to erect this sign. Mr. Krause purposes to donate the first sign that is needed here.

All owners of automobiles in this vicinity should become members of the St. Cloud Motor Club and should get in touch with Mr. Krause at once or be at the meeting next Wednesday morning.

3,500 CAPTURED GERMAN HELMETS TO BE GIVEN IN VICTORY LOAN

Inspecting cases of German helmets. The two civilians are, left, Frank R. Wilson, director of publicity, and, right, L. B. Franklin, director of the war loan organization.

Workers in the approaching Victory Loan campaign who render efficient service in obtaining subscriptions to the "finish the job loan," will be the proud possessors of genuine Hun helmets, taken from captured German prisoners or found on the battlefields of France after their former owners had no further use for headgear, it is announced by the headquarters of the Sixth Federal Reserve District at Atlanta.

Three thousand five hundred of these helmets, averaging eight to a county, will arrive at the headquarters soon, and will be distributed. The exact basis upon which they will be awarded has not yet been determined, but it will assure the real workers of a chance at the souvenirs. Hun helmets will decorate many a home in the South soon. In some instances they probably will be converted into cuspidors.

Preparations for the Victory Loan are going on rapidly, and the opening day, April 21, probably will find a big proportion of the state and county quotas ready for immediate subscriptions. This will be especially so in counties where the individual quota system is being used. By this plan every resident of the county will be notified, before the opening day, of what he is expected to subscribe. It is expected to have every citizen carry his own share of the quota, instead of letting his more patriotic neighbors carry more than their share. Local committees will hear appeals from those who consider their quota too high.

In most instances, the same loyal workers who carried the former loans to success will form the committees on the Victory Loan. At recent state conferences they expressed confidence in being able to put the job through, and their enthusiasm is certain to carry them to success.

Treasury department officials who have sounded out the sentiment of the whole country are confident that the people are willing to lend to their country for the purpose of finishing the job and paying the war bills. They understand the gigantic work that is still going on, and the necessity of bringing the boys back home; of giving the wounded men that education and instruction which will enable them to get a fresh start. The Government has still a big task before it, and the expenditures are still large. But they are far smaller in money—to say nothing of more precious lives—than if the war had continued. So the term, "Thanksgiving Loan," may well be applied to this, the last of the government's invitations to its people to lend their money to their nation.

INFLUENZA MORE DANGEROUS IN NORTHERN CLIMATE--TERRIBLE IN SEMI-ARCTIC REGIONS--MILD IN FLORIDA--MANY CASES BUT FEW DEATHS HERE

Comrade Briscoe, living near St. Cloud, tells the Tribune that a letter just received by him says there were 42 cases of influenza at the time of writing in the Kansas village whence he came to St. Cloud; that 36 influenza deaths have occurred there this winter. This villiage's population is only 500.

This is only one of the many similar reports received by St. Cloud residents from relatives or friends living in the colder climates of our Northern States. The reports in many Northern newspapers fully corroborate these private letters.

The higher or more northern the latitude, the more numerous and more fatal seem the attacks and effects of influenza.

Death Havoc In Labrador.

Influenza virtually has annihilated Labrador's population. There it has been a terrible and mysterious disease. If its virulence in the United States had been in the same ratio experienced in Labrador, it would have killed more than 75,000,000 people in our country—three-fourth of our population! In many communities not 5 of 100 persons were left alive by the disease. ALL the inhabitants of one island died and wild beasts devoured their bodies.

Rages In Nome (Alaska) District.

Influenza's ravages in cold climes were demonstrated in the Nome (Alaska) district. This is about 800 miles west-north-west of the Klondike region and near Bering strait

The quarantine restrictions in the Nome section were removed Feb. 27. At that time 34 whites and about 1000 natives (Esquimos) had perished of the disease. This means that only several hundred natives were left alive. The white population in winter there in probably 1000 or fewer.

Four Deaths Here, But Only Two Directly Chargeable.

St. Cloud has had four influenza deaths, but in one case the person (a child) came here with the disease from Indiana. In another case, death was caused by a complication of influenza with an advanced stage of consumption. Thus this community has virtually only two influenza deaths to its record.

This, with a population here of about 2,500, shows a startling contrast to the death toll in hundreds of Northern-State communities with only a fourth or less as many inhabitants as has St. Cloud.

Probably all other Florida communities can make appreximately the same favorable but startling comparison with Northern communities.

Influenz a still prevails generally thruout the country, and probably will continue to do so indefinitely, and residents or would-be residents in climates colder than Florida's would do well to let this fact enter into any change in residential plans they may contemplate.

Miss Jessie Lynde Hopkins will sing at the Episcopalian church on Palm Sunday, April 13. Those who had the pleasure of hearing Miss Hopkins at the recent Red Cross recital will be delighted to have an opportunity to hear her on this occasion.

Monthly Proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners

Monday was a busy day with the Board of County Commissioners, when they met in regular monthly session at the county court house. All members of the board were present, together with County Clerk J. L. Overstreet and Attorney Pat Johnston.

After the minutes of the last regular session and one special session were read and approved, the commissioners plunged into various road building problems that were brought befort them. Commissioner H. B. Guy advising the board that the Consolidated Land Co., had offered to give the county a right of way to all the present public roads now running through their properties, some of which are being improved, if the commissioners would place a cattle guard crossing at every cross-fence on the roads and wagon gates at the side of the roads at all such fences. Ezra Stewart, representing the Shaker colony being present, asked that the board do the same thing for the Shaker lands, but this being a matter of some expense if carried out all over the county, the board laid the same over until afternoon.

B. H. Guy then asked that $6.00 per month be given C. D. Smith as maintenance, it being shown that he was unable to work, which was agreed to.

Road Superintendent L. R. Farmer reported to the board that some one had driven around his road barricade where the work on the new brick road was in progress between St. Cloud and Kissimmee, and that considerable damage had been done by these parties. He stated that he knew who they were and that as soon as he removed the sand covering and ascertained the amount of damage he would proceed to collect or prosecute the parties.

Tommy Lamb asked for a dipping vat in his section of the county, while this county has under way the construction of vats, but was advised that he would have to wait until some other places were supplied where vats were needed at once

C. A. Carson appeared before the board and asked that the one cent per yard overhaul called for in the contract of the Peninsular Engineering Co., can be paid as per orders of the State Highway Department. This brought forth a lengthy opinion of the Board's Attorney Pat Johnston, in which he cited the fact that the records were not just as clear as they should be with regard to this matter. After Mr. Carson read several documents to show that everything was correct, and some discussion was had on the matter, the board, on motion of B. H. Guy, seconded by John Partin, ordered the overhaul item included in the estimate due the company at this time. Which was agreed to.

B. J. O'Quinn bid on painting the woodwork of the county court house and was awarded the job.

L. R. Farmer presented a resolution which he asked the commissioners to adopt, requesting that the state furnish the road department with convicts for county road work. Osceola county has for several years used convicts, but of recent years the state prison farm has held many of the prisoners for farm work, the state officials never having fully carried out the letter of the law whereby the State Road Department was to be furnished with convict gangs to work the state roads. This is now desired more than ever, and Mr. Farmer and the county commissioners are of the opinion that the State Roads should be worked by convicts instead of leasing them to contractors and turpentine operators.

R. G. Reynolds presented the monthly estimate for work done on the Kenansville district roads which are under contract to the Florida Engineering Co., which were ordered paid out of funds in Bond District No. 3.

Earn Stewart appeared before the board with reference to an error is assessments on the Shaker property and after some discussion it was agreed that the Saaker Colony be refunded $61.62 that had been paid as tax on the special road district fund.

County Tax Collector C. L. Bandy advised the board that the county tax books would be closed on April 15, so the tax sale can be arranged to take place on the first Monday in June. This information was supplied when a letter fro mthe Governor was read advising that the books be kept open a month longer. Mr. Bandy took the view that, as the Governor did not issue this advice until a day or two before the books were to be closed according to law, it would be unjust to those who had paid in the last week of the original period to hold the books open thirty days more, as it wac evident that all who pay during the month of April could arrange to pay before the 15th. This date was agreed to by the commissioners.

Harry Hunter of the Hunter Land Company and President of the Taft Drainage District, in Orange county, appeared before the board and suggested the commissioners hire a ditching machine now in use in the Taft district to continue the drainage work of that system into this county in the Shingle creek section. Mr. Hunter said the water from the Taft district is being emptied into East Lake Tohopekaliga thru Boggy creek and into Lake Tohopekaliga at Kissimmee thru Shingle creek. He said, further, that to clean out these creeks with a ditcher would drain a lot of lands in Osceola county, and lands which he thought would be benefited thereby. The commissioners did not think the work was feasible, because of the large expense that would result.

Report was made to the board that work is needed on the George Mann road. Referred to Mr. Farmer for attention as soon as possible.

County Road Superintendent L. R. Farmer asked the board to increase his salary $25 a month, explaining that his remuneration was below that paid in other counties for similar work. The increase was granted until conditions change.

The board discussed at great length the matter of dipping vats. After examining the expense bills for vats constructed so far, the board decided that the cost of building the vats is too high under the existing arrangement. It was decided that Ordia Bass, county vat inspector, shall not begin the construction of any more vats, tho he shall complete those already well under way. The board will advertise for bids for construction of the vats yet to be built to complete the program of cattle dipping now being enforced in this county.

A list of the vats yet to be built was prepared for the board by W. R. Godwin and C. A. Carson Jr., and bids are asked for thru an advertisement in this issue of the Tribune. The vats are to be grouped so that contracts may be let to cover all vats in one neighborhood into one job. Vats must be completed within six weeks.

The figures at hand at this meeting of the board showed the vats constructed to date have cost the county an average of $380 a vat for twenty-three vats constructed under the existing arrangement.

The monthly bills were checked up and ordered paid and adjournment was taken until April 26, when the board will meet to open bids on building the county dipping vats yet to be constructed.

BLUBAUGH KNOWS OKLAHOMA BANK LAW WORKS WELL.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

I lived in Oklahoma from the time that State was opened to settlement until four years ago. The banking law in that State is satisfactory both to the people and to the bankers—the law that insures bank deposits, I mean.

The Oklahoma banking law requires the bankers to put up money on deposit to cover losses in case of the failure of any bank; but, to my knowledge, there has not been a bank failure there since the law was adopted.

The money thus deposited is laid up as a sinking fund to meet cases of possible future failures.

We are suffering in St. Cloud now from the failure of the First National Bank here. Had such a law as the Oklahoma law existed in Florida we all would have received our money long before this. DAVID BLUBAUGH.

WESTMINSTER CIRCLE MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Westminster Circle was held Tuesday afternoon, April 8, at the home of Mrs. Krepps. After the usual opening exercises, plans were completed for the Easter social to be held in the Conn building on Friday evening of this week. Those not holding invitations may go and be measured at the door and be admitted by paying 1 cent per inch of waist measure.

Mrs. Weatherston will be the circle's hostess two weeks hence.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PICNIC FOR MISS WARNER.

Miss Jane Warner's birthday anniversary, last Saturday, was made the occasion of a pleasant surprise in the form of a picnic in her honor. She was invited to take a ride out to the country home of Mrs. F. E. Williams, in Ashton, where she found about sixty of her friends had gathered to welcome her.

The picnickers enjoyed a bountiful dinner and a joyous social time. A fine birthday cake was presented to the honoree of the picnic. This she cut and distributed among those present.

The youngest picnicker was Richard Porter, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Porter, and the oldest was Joseph H. Richardson, father of Mrs. C. M. White of St. Cloud.

Much credit is due to Mrs. Williams for the success of the affair and all of its enjoyable features.

THE RED CROSS CHAPTER

The Red Cross Chapted met in regular monthly session Friday, April 4. Reports of the chairmen were read and accepted. The chairman on supplies reported a portion of the muslin sold, but more remaining. This muslin is unbleached but of very good quality; some good quality bating remains for sale, also the cupboard which is 6 feet high and 7 feet long. This has been appraised by the builders and a price set of $12.00. The rooms are being rapidly cleared. No headquarters were decided at the last meeting but the meetings of the chapter until further notice will be held at the office of the president, Mr. S. W. Porter, on Pennsylvania avenue.

It is regrettable that so few of the Red Cross members attend the meetings to learn the chapters operations and assist in decisions.

PENNSYLVANIA ASSOCIATION

The Pennsylvania Association met in the G. A. R. Memeorial Hall at 2:00 p.m., Thursday, April 3, 1919. The officers present were: Wm. P. Lynch, secretary and choister, and W. Frank Kenney, treasurer. The secretary called the meeting to order, and requested Comrade Kenney to act as president pro tem, which Brother Kenney proceeded to do, according to the "rules of oredr."

The meeting opened by all joining in singing "America," and prayer by Comrade Kenney. For the second song the quartette, assisted by Mrs. J. Houston, as alto, sang "The Stainless Flag." The minutes of the last meeting were read and passed.

Mrs. Nettie Pope, a fine pianist, presided at the piano and very ably rendered two selections, "Napoleon's Last March" and for encore, "Reveries by the Sea." Mrs. Pope is a fine musician.

Mrs. F. A. Sprague sang two excellent solos, "Just a Wear'in For You," and for encore "My Laddie in Kakhi. Mrs. Sprague is a superb vocalist, and a fine pianist as well as a thorough musician.

Mr. Kessler sang "Old Glory," with a chorus, "Thou Beautiful Flag, by Lynch, Deputy, Kessler, Mrs. Sprague and Mrs. Houston.

Mrs. Houston gave two fine recitations. Encored.

Mrs. Sprague also gave two amusing recitations. Encored.

Acting President Kenney related a very amusing story and also gave a recitation, both of which were encored.

Mrs. Sprague rendered very nicely two fine selections on the piano, and for encore played very beautifully "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Secretary Lynch gave a select reading entitled, "Mary's Pet Ram Fighting the Church Deacon."

Messrs. Lynch, Kessler and Deputy sang, "My Grandfather's Clock," and for encore they sang, "Speed Away On Your Mission."

A collection was taken for hall rent. An address was given by W. Frank Kenney and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" closed the meeting.

NEWS OF LIVINGSTON METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

(Contributed)

The outstanding features of this church just now seem to be the "unit" prayer meetings, the centenary enthusiasm, and the Easter preparation.

The Sunday School Board was shocked last Tuesday evening when Rev. J. B. Santee resigned his position as teacher of class No. 3. He has been the teacher of this great organized Sunday school class about five years. It began as an overflow class from class No. 1, and has grown until it at one time had a membership of about 130. This winter the enrollment reached 98. Now there are 64 names on its rolls. It has partaken somewhat of the nature of a "tourist bible class." Rev. Mr. Santee feels that his health condition will not permit him to continue in the responsible position of teacher. It has been a struggle for him to come to this conclusion, and he does so only because he feels he must.

Sister Matthews also resigned her position as teacher of class No. 4, of which she has been the acceptable and efficient teacher for several years. The Matthews are to leave our city for their nothern home next week, and expect to spend the rest of their days with their children. We greatly regret such useful people have to get to the place where they feel they must lean on younger people, but the marvel is they have done so much.

Mr. Zimmerman also resigned his position as secretary, feeling as he does that his other church work, and his position as a district officer in the centenary takes so much of his time that he must give up some of it, and feels that he should resign the position of secretary, tho he will hold on to the place until some other secretary has been found.

The preparation for Easter is going forward nicely, and the program has been fully arranged. The Yokefellows and Golden Rule Girls classes were put in charge of the decorations. This completes the committees. They will do it well. It is only another week until Easter.

The Sunday School Board decided to put on its centenary drive for its quota of this Sunday school at Easter, as this seemed to be the best time.

Last Sunday evening Rev. J. B. Westcott preached his semi-centennial sermon to a large audience. He has given the church more than a half century of a very high order. We could have wished he had made the service more personal, but he is so interested in the welfare of the church to which he has given his life that he wished it to be of a nature to help others. We wish he could give another fifty years, and so does he, and if he could he would wish it to be ten-fold more than the past fifty years. That is the way it is with the true Christian life, the more we do for the Lord and others, the more delighted we are with it, and the more we desire to be doing.

The Ladies' Aid has been quilting and doing other work this week.

The Priscilla Sunday school class of which Mrs. James Goff is the teacher, has been placed in charge of the work of gathering some rags for rugs for some of the Sunday school classes. Mr. Zimmerman donated the chain, and the Priscillas will get the rugs made, and so the good work goes forward, and some more of the Sunday school classes will soon have some nice rugs for their class rooms.

Next Sunday is Palm Sunday. Don't miss the services.

VETERANS' ASSOCIA'N.

The association was called to order by President Kenney. The song "America" was sung. Prayer was offered by J. B. Westcott. Song "Old Kentucky Home" was sung. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The St. Cloud Yell was given, after which the collection was taken. A fine bouquet of roses was sold for the amount of forty cents, the money to be added to the hall fund.

The social hour was in charge of Elsie P. McElroy Auxiliary with Mrs. Barber as leader. The following program was rendered:

"Schnarr's Spray Formula" Is An Old Friend With A New Name

Every citrus grower who has used Schnarr's Insecticide knows it is the one positive control for white fly and scale. Results from its use have been so completely satisfactory that there was no room for any improvement in this respect.

Occasionally, however, there have been comments about a slight difficulty in mixing Schnarr's Insecticide with the hard water found in certain sections of Florida. After years of study and many experiments we have developed Schnarr's Insecticide so that it now

Mixes With Hard Water and Stays Mixed

Schnarr's Spray Formula is Schnarr's Insecticide improved. It mixes thoroughly with hard water and will not separate in sudden climatic changes.

As Schnarr's Insecticide is recognized as the leader of all sprays for citrus trees, it is fitting that its makers should be the first to overcome the hard water difficulty.

Schnarr's Spray formula, as it will hereafter be known, should be used in the same proportions and in the same manner as has been the old reliable Schnarr's Insecticide, the standby of Florida growers.

You can use Schnarr's Spray Formula, completely confident that it will quickly and thoroughly control white fly and scale insects and that it will mix with hard water and stay mixed, and in every way prove the completely efficient citrus spray.

J. Schnarr & Company
Orlando, Fla.

Orders will be accepted during March, for shipment immediately or up to June 1st, at prices for which Schnarr's Insecticide has been selling during the past year. On April 1st prices must be advanced on account of higher manufacturing costs, increased prices of chemicals, etc. Order now and save money.

CITY COUNCIL CALLS SPECIAL ELECTION FOR CITY OFFICERS ON THURS., MAY 8

against the mayor or to quash the charges—as the councilmen saw fit.

President King asked: "What is the pleasure of the council?"

Councilman Kenney moved that the council proceed with the charges, seconded by Councilman McClay.

Marshal Montsdeoca was sworn as a witness and testified to several instances wherein the mayor had appointed special policemen without complying with the city laws regulating such appointments.

Councilman Kenney was sworn and testified that the mayor had not complied with the city ordinances in calling the recall election of Jan. 14—that the mayor had not recognized the city clerk nor the City Council in calling said election.

City Attorney Crawford, who put the questions to the witnesses, here suggested that the case could be rested at this point; that enough had been shown for the council to act on, if it desired, without going into the other charges and summoning other witnesses.

The council informally agreed to this, and Councilman Kenney read an ouster resolution, as follows:

Resolution
Ousting Mayor Conn

Whereas, the Council of the City of St. Cloud, Florida, did on January 14, 1919, lawfully impeach J. K. Conn as mayor of said city of St. Cloud, Florida; and

Whereas an injunction issued from the Circuit Court of the Seventh Judical Circuit of the State of Florida, restraining the said Council from trying the said Mayor; and

Whereas the said litigation and injunction of said court have been dismissed at the cost of the said mayor; and

Whereas this Council having proceeded with the taking of evidence and the trial of said mayor, and being of the opinion that the charges in said impeachment resolution have been sustained by the evidence heard by the Council; now, therefore be it

Resolved by the Council of the City of St. Cloud, Florida: Section 1. That the charges in the impeachment resolution of the council of the city of St. Cloud, Florida, passed January 14, 1919, be and the same are hereby sustained, and the said J. K. Conn be and he hereby is convicted of said charges and removed as mayor of said city of St. Cloud, Florida.

Councilman Kenney moved the adoption of the above resolution, seconded by Councilman McClay. Unanimously adopted on a roll-call vote.

Decides To Have Only Acting Mayor Until Special Election Fills All Offices

Councilman McClay then introduced a resolution placing the council on record as refraining from electing a mayor for the period between the date of Mayor Conn's removal and the date of an anticipated special and LEGAL election to fill all offices the terms of which have expired. The resolution reads:

Whereas the Council of the City of St. Cloud, Florida, has this date convicted J. K. Conn as Mayor of said City of the charges embodied in the impeachment resolution of January 14, 1919, and

Whereas the said J. K. Conn has been removed as mayor of said city of St. Cloud, Florida; and

Whereas the President of this Council becomes Acting Mayor of said city pending the election of the successor to the said J. K. Conn; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Council of the City of St. Cloud, Florida:

Section 1. That it is the sense of this Council that a successor to J. K. Conn as mayor of St. Cloud, Florida, be not elected by this Council under the provisions of the law giving the power of election of a mayor to the existing Council whenever a vacancy occurs within three months of a regular election.

Section 2. That the president of this council, as Acting Mayor, be and he is hereby requested to issue his proclamation calling an election for the offices of mayor and four councilmen at his earliest convenience, and that he continue to act as acting mayor until after the result of said election has been canvassed and the result announced and successors to the officers named sworn in.

Adoption of the foregoing was moved by Councilman McClay, seconded by Councilman Lippincott, and carried by a unanimous roll-call vote.

Action Taken On "Behalf Of Peace, Not For Harmony."

City Attorney, Crawford then suggested to the council that it take action that, while it would "not be for harmony, will be at least in behalf of peace."

"The council should take action to prevent any more public meetings being held in the city hall, unless they are sanctioned by the City Council," said Mr. Crawford. "I have in mind particularly preventing any more meetings here of those individuals and that group who are illegally trying to invade the city's offices and usurp their functions. They are being illegally advised—in fact. I do not hesitate publicly to say they are being advised by a poor lawyer, and that they may be induced to action that would be injurious not only to themselves, but also to the community as a whole."

That no public meeting or gathering shall be permitted within the city hall unless first sanctioned by the City Council.

City Clerk Kenney, being custodian of the city hall, is expected to see that this council order is complied with.

The council had no further business and then adjourned.

About fifteen spectators were present, only two of whom were recognized as belonging to the anti-council faction—W. H. Illman and C. J. Rothrock. Mr. Illman went in just before the council session began, and Mr. Rothrock soon after. The former departed just after the ousting of Mayor Conn, but Mr. Rothrock stayed until all was done.

Mayor Pro Tem King Calls City Election For May 8.

That same day Mayor Pro Tem King, in accordance with the council's action, issued a proclamation calling a special election on Thursday, May 8.

The officers to be voted for are those voted for in the election fizzle on March 25—mayor (one year), treasurer (two years), sanitary inspector (two years), superintendent of streets (two years), assessor-auditor (one year, unfinished term), and bond trustee (three years).

The official election proclamation is printed on page 7 of this number of the Tribune.

The election will be held in strict conformity to the state constitution and to state and city election laws.

OBITUARY.

MRS. RACHEL BARRAT CARMAN.

Mrs. Rachel Barrat Carman was born in Lincolnshire, England, on Feb. 11, 1839, and died in St. Cloud, Fla., on April 4, 1919, in the Chunn hospital, at 7:20 o'clock, aged 80 years 1 month 23 days. Her death was preceded by a lingering illness, due mostly to her advanced age.

At the age of 10 years her parents brought her to America and settled in St. Louis, Mo., where she resided until about three years since, when she and her husband came to St. Cloud for her health. She grew to womanhood in St. Louis and was educated in schools there.

Aug. 23, 1863, she was married to Charles P. Carman. Their only daughter, Jessie, died April 29, 1909.

The deceased was converted in youth and united with the Baptist Church, of which she remained a faithful member all her life. She was an earnest and devoted Christian and her works will live after her.

Mrs. Carman leaves to mourn her loss her aged husband, a sister (Mrs. V. Spaulding of Douds, Iowa), and three grandchildren—Earle Morrison of Detroit, Mich.; Lieut. Charles Morrison of Camp Mercedes, Texas, and Mrs. L. C. Riddle of St. Cloud.

The funeral services were held from the Carlson undertaking-rooms Saturday morning, April 5, Rev. H. H. Bowen, pastor of Livingston Methodist Episcopal Church, having charge of them. The body was laid to rest in the cemetery here—to await the resurrection of the just.

Mr. William Henry Kenney, son of Daniel and Matilda Kenney, was born in Warren County Ohio, near what was then Freeport, but is now Oregonia, on the 28th day of January, 1839. He was stricken while eating his dinner, at his home in St. Cloud, Florida, Friday, April 4, 1919, at 1 o'clock, and died in a few minutes. He had worked in his garden almost all the morning, and had been visiting with his neighbors in his usually friendly manner, and then he went home.

Mr. Kenney grew to manhood, married, and lived almost all of his long life in the great state of Ohio. He once resided in Nebraska for three or four years, and has lived in St. Cloud for about five years.

He enlisted in the service of his country in the Twelfth Ohio Volunteer Infantry and was mustered into the service at Camp Denison Ohio, June 19, 1861, and served a month over three years, and was honorably discharged from the service July 11, 1864. His last service in the war was in the Lynchburg raid. He then returned to Ohio, and engaged in the business of farming.

He was united in marriage to Miss Clara E. Weir, December 5th, 1868. Eight children was born to their union, five sons and three daughters. All are married and have homes of their own. They are Frank L., Banchester, Ohio; Hattie Selsemeyer, Wilmington, Ohio; Carrie M. Seaman, Washington, D. C.; Clinton D., Ludlow, Kentucky; Nellie Spurling, Taylorville, Ills.; Fred B., City Clerk of St. Cloud, Florida; Raymond W., Covington Kentucky; and Howard P. Cincinnati, Ohio. There are twelve grand children and two great grand children.

Mr. Kenney was a farmer almost all of his life, but at one time conducted a grocery business and post office for about 16 years.

He has been an active Christian for a life time. He united with the Free Will Baptist Church in January, 1866 at Martinsville, Ohio. Later he moved his family to another home, and there they united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1878, of which he has been a faithful member since.

At one time he was Commander of the Newtonville Ohio Post for two years, and has been an active member of the Grand Army of the Republic for many years. He has been a member of the L. L. Mitchell Post in St. Cloud, Florida, for about two years.

Mr. Kenney has been a man of frugal habits and of sterling character during a very long life. He had never suffered from long sickness. His sudden passing came as a shock to us all.

The funeral services were held from the Livingston Methodist Episcopal Chruch in St. Cloud, Florida, Monday April 7, 1919, at 3 o'clock p.m. The services were in charge of the Pastor, Rev. H. H. Bowen, who was assisted by the Rev. J. B. Westcott, who was the founder of the church and its pastor for five years, and who has been the Chaplain of the Post for many terms. Also, the choir of the church had charge of the singing.

The body was laid to rest in the cemetery at St Cloud amid his comrades to await the general resurrection.

STREET CREW REMEDIES SANDY STREETWAYS.

Councilman N. H. Washburn, superintendent of streets, had the street-repairing crew at work yesterday covering with mown grasses and weeds the exceedingly sandy street ways at the intersection of Jersey avenue and Eleventh street. The land within a radius of two squares there is dry and sandy, and in dry weather the roadways are almost impassable for automobiles, three of which got stuck there yesterday. In three directions the roadway was covered a distance of almost a block.

BRADENTOWN STORE OF FORMER ST. CLOUD MAN BURGLARIZED.

Some time Sunday night Stone's grocery, on Florida avenue, was entered and merchandise amounting to $75 or $80 was taken. Entrance was effected by breaking out a portion of the glass in one of the rear windows, enabling the thief to insert his hand and undo the catch which fastened the window, giving access to the storeroom. Once inside, the intruder opened the back door, which had been barred, and an accomplice evidently was waiting, as the quantity of goods taken scarcely could have been taken away by one person. The booty included cigars, tobacco, groceries, and meats, the refrigerator being emptied of the latter.—Bradentown Journal, April 3.

The owner is John C. Stone, who formerly was one of St. Cloud's grocerymen.

COMMUNITY SING AT BROWN'S CHAPEL.

Last Friday night most of the residents in the vicinity of Brown's chapel, beyond the western boundary of St. Cloud, enjoyed the pleasures and benefits of a "community sing."

The affair was conducted under the direction of Miss Albina Smith, county home-work agent, who came from Kissimmee with five companions to assist in the music, bringing two violinists and a cornetist for this purpose.

Our West St. Cloud neighbors co-operated so heartily and so effectively that the visitors were more than usually gratified with the success of the affair, and one of them said to a Brown's chapel woman: "We shall like to come here as often as we can, for you people certainly can sing."

Another community songfest will be an early feature in that neighborhood.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers, the purifiers, of your blood.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammations and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first heard of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

WANTED—REAPPORTIONMENT OF COUNTIES AND CONSCIENCE.

The thirteen southernmost counties of Florida (Brevard, Broward, Dade, DeSoto, Hillsborough, Lee, Manatee, Monroe, Osceola, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Polk, and St. Lucie) have only one County Representative for each 16,995 of population.

This State's eleven mid-northern counties (Franklin, Gadsden, Hamilton, efferson, Lafayette, Leon, Liberty, Madison, Suwanne, Taylor, and Wakulla) have one County Representative for each 8,619 of population.

The twenty-three counties in the southern half of the State have one State Senator for each 23,010 of population.

The twnty-eight counties in the northern half of the State have one State Senator for each 14,162 of population.

Votes in the State Legislature where his fellow voter in the

Thus a voter in the northern half of the State has two southern half of the State has only one vote.

Which shows the need and the justice for a reapportionment of representation in the Legislature.

It shows also the need for a reapportionment of conscience among those members o fthe Legislature who represent the northern counties of our State.

There is only one way to do anything, and that is to do it RIGHT. People who take forcible means for obtaining their ends almost always come to grief. The courts of this land are open to persons whose rights are invaded, and this course the real man will take. The people of St. Cloud will lose patience with persons who do things in violation of law. It is hoped that every citizen will keep a cool head, and that some others will not try to override the law if it stands in the way of their personal or parisan ends or desires.

"I HAVE NO USE FOR HIM."

By WILLIAM S. HEDGES, Beaver City, Neb.

(The author of the following fine little poem is a son [illegible] St. Cloud's Farris hotel. Comrade Hedges was one of Gen. Philip H. Sheridan's staff, his regiment being the Second New York Cavalry. His home is at Beaver Falls, where his son William is a school teacher. This is Comrade Hedges's fourth winter in St. Cloud.)

Too oft within this troubled vale I hear
Said of some soul by some one counted dear:
"I have no use for him; he's mean and low;
To every Christian virtue he's a foe."
Perhaps the world looks on and counts him so;
But mind thy speech, and ponder well, I pray,
You little know just what another day
May bring to you—what need you'll have, I say.
For this poor soul, this helpless, erring clay,
He might the cup of cooling water bring,
As sweet from hand of vagabond as king.
O Thou poor, lonely One of Galilee!
Thou didst not say: "I have no use for thee."

RATIFICATION RALLY SONG.

TUNE—"IT'S A LONG WAY TO TIPPERARY."
(Composed by E. Tennyson Smith of Birmingham, England.)

Many years of faithful toil won their reward at last
When the Fed'ral Government the Great Amendment passed.
Giving to the country prohibition nation-wide,
When thirty-six of all the States the law have ratified.

CHORUS—

'Twas a long way to prohibition,
'Twas a long way to go;
'Twas a long way to prohibition,
And we've traveled far, we know.
Good-by to the traffic,
Farewell to its snare!
'Twas a long, long way to prohibition,
But we'll soon get there.

Mississippi promptly led the way in this great land;
Then Virginia and Kentucky took the noble stand;
South Carolina followed; sturdy North Dakota, too;
Then Maryland, Montana, and bold Texas all proved true.

Delaware and South Dakota fought, and won the day;
Massachusetts, in New England, nobly led the way;
Arizona, Georgia, were the next to fall in line;
Louisiana fought, and won a vict'ry that was fine.

Now's our opportunity to work with might and main,
Agitate and pray and vote, full victory to gain!
Then, in nineteen-twenty, songs of triumph we will raise,
While unto God, who leads our hosts, we render thankful praise.

News, Views, And Interviews

REPORTED BY W. J. FRIPP.

HOW MUCH ARE FALSE TEETH TAXED?

Mrs. J. W. Smith, at Kentucky avenue and Sixth street, says she needs a couple of false teeth, but that she fears to buy them lest they cause her taxes to be increased.

Asked whence this fear, she said she would have to pay taxes on false teeth if she bought any.

"Who told you so? Is this a riddle or a joke you are making for me?" asked the reporter.

"The tax assessor told me so," replied Mrs. Smith

"Was he the CITY tax assessor?" inquired the reporter.

"No; he is the assessor who lives out in the country—the one for the county," said Mrs. Smith.

"The last time he came around to our place," continued Mrs. Smith, "he asked me if we had any piano, any horse, any cow, any chickens, any jewelry, and any of several other things—and he wanted to know if I had any false teeth! 'For the Lord's sake!' I said to him, 'are you putting taxes on false teeth?'

"'Why, of course!' he said back to me.'

"So I wonder how much more my taxes would be if I get a couple of false teeth put in," concluded Mrs. Smith.

COMRADE LYNCH'S ROOSTER CLOCK.

One morning this week I asked Comrade W. P. Lynch something about the train time.

"I don't know," he replied. "These new sorts of time have me all mixed up. I wouldn't know what time to get up if it were not for a young rooster I have at home. He got accustomed to being fed at a certain hour every morning, and when that hour comes he begins to crow, and he keeps on crowing until he is fed."

AN ULTRA-RADICAL SUNSHINER.

W. G. Peckham has improved his New York avenue business building occupied by Mrs. R. H. Hatcher's millinery shop, the real-estate office of the Citizens' Realty Co. and C. C. Pike's photography studio, by attaching an attractive and ample awning before the full length of the building.

Of course, somebody must be displeased with it—and none other than Dr. Buckmaster!

"There you are!" ejaculated the doctor, as he noticed the awning being put into place. "Get sun-starved people to come down here to absorb and enjoy our glorious and life-giving sunshine, and then go and put up awnings to keep the sunshine from getting to the people."

MITCHELL GLAD TO SEE USELESS LETTERS DISCARDED.

Comrade Mitchell, at Virginia avenue and Fourteenth street, says he is glad to see this newspaper is beginning to use simplified or shortened words, such as "thru," "tho" "program," etc.,

"The sooner the American or English language is simplified; and the more it is simplified, the sooner it will become the world's universal language—which it is destined to be."

Mr. Mitchell says he is opposed to clinging to habits and processes just because dad and granddad used it.

SUGGESTS MORE CHRISTIANITY.

Mr. Stanton likes this town nevertheless who takes a sort of passive and aloof interest in our civic fussing, says one of St. Cloud's troubles is that which troubles many other communities—too much religion and not enough Christianity.

Mr. Stanton licks this town nevertheless, and he has some expectation of coming here to reside. This is his first visit to our Grand Army town.

ABOUT CLARK AND MARTIN FAMILIES AND HOMES.

Charlotte C. (Mrs. F. F.) Clark says Comrade Ferdinand Rath is not the beach. She told the reporter that she only pebble on the home-beautifying and hubby F. F. have a good start toward making the southwest corner of Eleventh street and Missouri avenue just as much of a beauty spot and show place as Mr. Rath's or anybody else's.

This when the reporter stopped to see what kind of a noise Mr. Clark and Michael Peterson were making back of the Clark domicile. The noise is a new piazza almost surrounding the cottage, with a new room added and a new roof over all. Mr. Clark was doing the carpenter work, assisted by Mr. Petersoñ, who was thus utilizing his morn hours of leisure.

The Clark trees and garden look to be and are flourishing—bright green and well cared for. They are ating garden peas planted on Washington's Birthday; also new spuds. Everything is a Hibernian green.

Mrs. Clark's chief pride, however and perhaps, is in an elevated house of eleven rooms in their front yard—a villa-like structure bearing the label "Our Friends." It contains eleven rooms, and each room is occupied by a family of purple martins. The martin, by the way, is a small swallow imported from Europe, tho the name "martin" is commonly applied to several varieties of swallows.

The Clark and Martin families really seem to be in a fair way to make their premises one of St. Cloud's show places.

COMRADE DEVERS REGAINS MONEY AND HEALTH AT ONCE.

The joke is on Comrade John Devers, one of the New St. Cloud hotel's winter residents.

He has gone and done it just like the man who looks for his hat when he has it on his head.

One morning early this week the hotel was thrown into some commotion by announcement that Mr. Devers's pocketbook had been lost or stolen. A general but vain search for the wallet was made by Mr. Devers and almost everybody else about the hotel.

Finally the loser reluctantly gave up search and inquiry as being vain. He concluded the $350 the wallet contained had been appropriated by some finder of easy conscience and perhaps need.

He went to the hotel piazza and sat down to mourn or ruminate over his misfortune. After a while he said to Hotel Clerk C. C. Leister, who was near by: "I am alarmed about my leg. It has developed a sudden and large swelling this morning." He leaned over and tenderly felt a protuberance on one of his nether limbs, and Mr. Leister did likewise.

The suddenness of the swelling and its unusual shape excited Mr. Leister's curiosity, and he investigated closely and directly.

It was the disappeared wallet! Comrade Devers had inserted it between his shirt and the top of his drawers when he thought he placed it into his pocket, and it had slipped down!

BAILEY KILLS BIG RATTLESNAKE.

Comrade Weston Bailey attracted some attention and created a little alarm last Wednesday morning when he appeared on New York avenue with a diamond-back rattlesnake attached to a cord. He and Mrs. Bailey were driving to their farm several miles south west of St. Cloud when their horse began to "act up." Mr. Bailey got out and discovered and killed the rattler, which the horse had seen. The snake was fully five feet long and had seven rattles and a button, which shows it was nearly 8 years old. The dead reptile was sold to a bystander for $1. Mr. Bailey has thirty acres planted to a mixed crop of corn and watermelons.

Judging from Mr. Bailey's statements about some crops he has raised, the reporter (who knows something about Florida farming himself) has a great, big suspicion that Comrade Bailey can teach beginners a great deal about how to farm in Florida. Of which more anon.

MOURN DEPARTURE OF FRANKLINS AND THEIR MUSIC.

The residents in the vicinity of Kentucky avenue and Seventh street are in mental sackcloth and ashes.

Comrade and Mrs. E. M. Franklin are "breaking up" housekeeping at the home they have occupied on Kentucky avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets and will leave next Tuesday for more northern climates. Mrs. Franklin will go to Brooklyn, N. Y., where her relatives live and where she and her husband formerly had their home, but Comrade Franklin will step off at Asheville, N. C., where he probably will stay thru the summer.

The neighborhood regrets to lose the Fraklins because they are good neighbors, but there is another and equally serious reason. No more will the fine musical instrument sound out in that vicinity its large variety of selections from the best of the world's music and oratory. The Franklins had the finest instrument of its kind in St. Cloud, and they had selected its music with fine taste and discrimination—from the very best that could be obtained. The "ragtime" and the "coon song" were few—very few. The instrument was shipped on before several weeks ago.

They may return to St. Cloud, but, in the language of Mrs. Franklin, "not under present conditions." This, being interpreted, means that the present status of our municipal government does not please them.

I expect to see them back. I felt the same way in 1896 when Bryan was defeated. I thought the country had gone to the everlasting demnition bowwows—and then some. I got over it.

May they have a pleasant journey and a happy sojourn when and whence they depart. Their neighbors will hold their memory green thruout many moons to come—in fact, until the Cracker sand they carry away in their shoes draws them hither again, be it few or many moons.

DR. FARRIS SETS AN EXAMPLE.

Dr. E. G. Farris is having five or six of his vacant lots in this city plowed and planted to velvet beans and whippoorwill peas. The doctor will use the product for provender for that sleek and useful horse that conveys him to his patients. He says he obtained this way most of the hay he used last winter. If owners of other vacant lots would go and do likewise, instead of allowing weeds and waste on their vacant lots, they would improve the appearance of the lots and probably make enough off the product to pay for their trouble.

Would Have New Survey To Get Accurate and Greater Land Acreage

County Tax Assessor W. I. Barber called the attention of the Board of County Commissioners, at its meeting this Monday, to discrepancies in several sections of Osceola county lands as shown on the government maps on file here.

These maps were made several years before drainage was undertaken in this county, and in many instances they show but fractional parts of sections as containing land, the other part being shown as overflowed land or as lakes.

Mr. Barber instanced one section east of St. Cloud in which the map shows the water lien of a lake as having been a mile further north than it is known now to be. There are several hundred acres of land in this section, he said, which now are high and dry, that were not on the maps made by the Government, but which maps are the authority on which deeds must be based.

Mr. Barber asked that the commissioners provide a new survey of one section of land, to ascertain how many acres in excess of the acreage shown on the Government map can be found.

At this juncture, Attorney Pat Johnston, attorney for the board, pointed out that the county would not have any right to survey private lands; that if extra acreage has been uncovered by drainage, it would become Government or homestead land, and that it is a matter for the Government to handle.

This has brought up an important question that should be investigated, as it was shown that in one section the county is getting taxes on only a few acres, whereas every one who has traveled thru that section of land knows there probably are more than 400 acres of good high and dry land therein.

If the lands uncovered by drainage belong to the Government, then they are homestead lands and are open to entry by any settler who complied with the homestead regulations.

If the recovered lands belong to the State, then the Internal Improvment Board holds title to them and should have surveys of them made and the lands should go to the proper department for sale or settlement.

Another matter developed about such lands was that the school lands probably would be increased, as every sixteenth section of State lands belongs to the public-school fund.

The final outcome of this proposition will be watched with interest, as there is likely to be objection made by property owners holding possession of such lands, particularly where one person owns all the land surrounding any reclaimed overflowed land.

SUPPLEMENTAL ELECTION RETURNS

The voting returns of our latest messed-up city election were incomplete as published in the Tribune at the time. A bit of memorandum was overlooked, and the votes of the six candidates who "contested" against Gehue Rowland for bond trustee were not published. Ballots cast for his opponents as follows:

George Dennis	1
N. Edwards	1
Seth Roth	1
J. D. Chunn	1
Labor W. Farris	1
Samuel Brammar	6

Some hypercritical students of our local politics assert it is obviously easy to explain where Messrs. Dennis, Edwards, Roth, Chunn and Farris got THEIR one vote each. J. A. McCarthy was overheard advising one voter to vote for himself—for the voter's self, not Mr. McCarthy's self. There is some speculation and cogitation, however, concerning the source of five of Mr. Brammar's six votes. Here is where the "politicianers" are guessing.

This slogan is suggested for the City Council's friends:

"He or she who is against us is Witham!"

EACH STATE HAS ELECTION LAWS THAT MUST BE COMPLIED

In St. Cloud's pseudo-election on March 25 last, several citizens (men) were much aggrieved because they had lived in St. Cloud a number of years and yet were not allowed to vote.

It is well to consider a fact that will apply to voting in any State in the Union. This is: That a man may live six or sixty years in a community, but that he will not be allowed to vote unless he fulfills certain requirements imposed by the State or city election laws.

Any citizen who places any value on his right to vote certainly should put himself to the very small trouble of asking a few questions about what he is required to do to become a voter.

No State allows any one man to make his own election law.

ONE GUESS WHOM HE MEANS!

S. T. Naylor of Dover, Ohio, writing to the Tribune relative to his subscription, adds:

"I expect to be back in St. Cloud next winter. It seems to me we have got into bad shape in regard to elections in St. Cloud. It would seem that we have only one real smart man in St. Cloud—and he is certainly too smart for the rest of them."

Just one guess—and only one—as to whom Mr. Naylor means:

OUR SUBSCRIBERS SAY:

Thoroly Enjoys Tribune; Says It Is A Credit To St. Cloud.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

I enclose a postoffice order for $2, which entitles me to the Tribune until Sept. 27, 1919. In June I sent you 50 cents for a three-month subscription, which expired in September; but you have courteously continued sending the paper, which I hav thoroly enjoyed; and I take this occasion to thank you for your kindness.

Your paper is certainly a clean, well-edited little journal and a credit to St. Cloud.

I spent the winter of 1916-17 in your enterprising little city, and I have never lost interest in the community, which I intend to visit again.

With best wishes for the growth and prosperity of St. Cloud, and the Tribune as well, I am sincerely,

(MRS.) GEORGIA E. EVERETT.

California Climate Is Inferior To St. Cloud's.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

Please find enclosed postal order for $1 to extend my time for your paper. I want to keep in touch with the people of St. Cloud. We are having California weather now; rain down here, in the valley and everything green and nice, and snow on the mountains. I like it better there than I did at first, but it doesn't come up with St. Cloud's climate. Best regards to you and my St. Cloud friends. T. W. LAMSON.

Will Stay In St. Cloud As Long As She Shall Live.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

My Friend—Please find enclosed $1 for renewal to the St. Cloud Tribune, to be sent to my present address, as I expect to remain in St. Cloud as long as I live. * * * Your paper is very good, and I have no suggestions to make. Thanking you for past and present favors, and wishing you success for many, many years, I am very truly your friend and subscriber,

MRS. SARAH E. HOPKINS.

Reading Tribune Makes Him Too Homesick.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

Please find enclosed 50 cents to pay my indebtedness to your valuable paper. Thank you for waiting. Will you please stop when my time is up? (I think the 24th of this month—March.) My reason for stopping the Tribune is failing eyesight, and—it makes me too homesick to read it. I was down there ten months. I think the Tribune is all right. Wishing you all the success possible, I remain yours respectfully.

JOHN VAN NATTA.

Expects To Move To St. Cloud.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

Enclosed find $1, for which please send the Tribune to my address. * * * I am interested in your part of the country, as I have a five-acre tract near St. Cloud and I am thinking somewhat of making a change to that climate.

MRS. LOTTIE GILLIS.

Bank Failure Hit Him Hard, But He Buys $5 Worth Of Tribune.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

As you have been good enough to send me the Tribune without any assurance of getting your pay, I am sending you a check for $5 for arrears and as much longer as this will pay for.

I had $2,357.48 in the Blooming Bank of St. Cloud when it failed. If it had not been for that, I would have been in St. Cloud and making it my home now. I just got a 10 per cent dividend. So I have a little money on hand.

With best wishes for your future, I am respectfully yours.

Says Tribune Is Fine.

To Editor of St. Cloud Tribune:

I am sorry that I have failed to pay in advance, but the matter was entirely overlooked. Enclosed is $1. This will move the date of my sub. to 7-1-19. YOUR PAPER IS A FINE ONE. Respectfully,

John D. Crosby, one of the old-time settlers in this part of the county, was in St. Cloud several days ago from his home, at Lake Conlin, fifteen miles east of here and near the Dixie highway. He says bad weather has damaged and hampered his farming operations this winter. He is another man who knows how to grow sweet potatoes. Comrade V. C. Lenox celebrated his 75th birthday last Saturday, April 5; and so did Comrade William Leaton, who became 76 years old that day. A 6 o'clock dinner was a prominent feature of the occasion—perhaps the most prominent, as Mrs. Lenox is famous as a cook. Mrs. Lenox and their grandson, Lieut. Lenox Trickle, also were present.

Comrade E. E. Livermore arrived in St. Cloud last evening to spend three months at his old home, here, after having been several months at the national soldiers' home in Johnson City, Tenn., where he was connected with the staff of that institution. He was among the first settlers in St. Cloud and has a host of friends here who are glad to welcome him home.

The attention of owners of cattle is directed to the notice published elsewhere in these columns by the United States veterinary inspector for Osceola county. All cattle, in or out of the town, mut be dipped on April 11 and 12 and at intervals of fourteen days for some time thereafter. This is necessary to make certain the eradication of cattle ticks in this county.

Announcement was made last week that the Okeechobee Publishing Co., had bought the Okeechobee Call, changed the name to the Okeechobee News, and selected S. J. Triplett, formerly of St. Cloud, as editor. Triplett has started off well, being a natural-born booster. He has already forgotten all the beautiful places he ever wrote a line about and declares that Okeechobee is the one garden spot of the universe.

Mrs. J. C. Wolfe and her brother, H. E. Burns, and also the latter's wife, left for their Northern homes Tuesday morning, after spending in St. Cloud what to them was a delightful winter—their first one here. They expect to return next season, having found our people so very sociable, and they will keep in touch with their St. Cloud friends thru the Tribune, which will follow to their homes.

This Friday evening the Kissimmee lodge of Odd Fellows will be hosts to a district meeting of members of that order. An invitation is extended to all visiting brothers in St. Cloud to attend this meeting and hear reports of the work in this district. J. L. Overstreet of Kissimmee is deputy grand master for the district, and he has been doing some excellent work since his appointment, made at the last Grand Lodge meeting. A large delegation from the St. Cloud lodge will attend the meeting.

Elmer C. F. Baker, who is serving on the United States ship George Washington, arrived in Lakeland on April 6 to visit his mother and his grandmother, Mrs. William Phillips and Mrs. Anna Blaich—the latter now visiting Mrs. Phillips. Mr. Baker's stay is quite short; else he gladly would run over to see his many friends in St. Cloud. He sends a message of best wishes and remembrance to all of them. His ship is that which has been taking the President to and from France.

Joe Cathcart arrived home from service in the navy this week to spend several days with his mother and sisters, in this city. Joe has gained several pounds in avoirdupois since entering his country's military service. He has been across the salt water more than ten times during the fighting period and since the armistice was signed. He will return to service before the end of the month, and he does not know when he will be discharged, tho he says he would like to come home to stay, now that the big fight is over.

C. J. Motes, field representative of the Florida State Automobile Association with headquarters at Orlando, was in the city today in conference with Mr. J. Edward Krause with reference to the organization of a St. Cloud Motor Club, which will take place here next Wednesday. Mr. Mote states that there are more tourists coming into Florida by automobile than by train, and that it is the purpose of the State Automobile Association to see the population of the state doubled in the next five years.

Lieut. A. M. White, son of Comrade C. M. White of this city, has sent to his father a German helmet, which arrived from France this morning. Some time ago the lieutenant sent to his father some white threads taken from the Germans' surrender flag, which had been divided as souvenirs after the armistice was signed, last November. Comrade White, being a veteran of the Civil War, is very appreciative of the souvenirs and is glad he had a son to enter the World War on the side of right and humanity.

We are again indebted to Dr. N. A. Strait of Washington, for another copy of "Come-Back," the official publication of the returned soldiers issued by the boys in the Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington. To "Come-Back" belongs the credit of starting the movement that has already practically eliminated the fakers who took advantage of wearing the uniform of returned soldiers to beg alms of the public and prey on patriotic people for money. The protest started by "Come-Back" was at once taken up by the daily papers throughout the country with a result that it is now known that no returned soldier has to beg for anything or obtain money by selling persons useless and fake souvenirs.

Burna ("Hinie") Levi, son of C. M. Levi, arrived home from France on Monday after being in service for nearly two years, fifteen months of which was in service in France. Burna was before Metz with a batallion of heavy gunners preparing for a final bombardment, when the armistice was signed and orders to stop fighting was received. He said the general wish of the boys over there in the fighting line was at that time for only ten days more fighting so they would get deep into Hunland before accepting surrender. He was in several severe battles and twice injured, but is home again spick and span and ready to take his place in the business world and help run this part of the universe in a progressive manner. Burna has a host of friends here who have been extending congratulations this week.

"Dad" Wilson, one of the highly-esteemed veterans who winter in St. Cloud, has gone to Michigan for the summer.

Comrade and Mrs. Philip H. Sipe have ended their winter visit to St. Cloud and have returned to their home in a colder climate, at LaPlata, Md.

Comrade F. A. Thayer, who has been a winter visitor her about six months, staying at Mrs. Veeder's home, went away Tuesday to his Northern habitat, which is Thompsonville, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kessler and Mrs. J. L. Ganvee were among Tuesday's departures, they going to Michigan, the former to Detroit and the latter to Clayton.

Mrs. Frances R. Riley, first reader in our local Christian Science Church, has moved from Kentucky avenue to the Cute cottage, on Eleventh street between Jersey and Wisconsin.

Comrade David (popularly known as "Dad") Baldwin and Comrade Melaney went away Tuesday morning to their Ohio homes, after having wintered in St. Cloud. Their departure leaves quite a vacancy in "comrade" circles.

Mrs. B. Butler has moved from the residence she occupied on Jersey avenue between Eleventh and Twelfth street dan now lives in the Shaw house, on Missouri avenue between Eleventh and between Eleventh and Twelfth street and now lives in the Shaw house, on Twelfth.

Desire (known better as "Daisy") Pillot has gone to Cincinnati, Ohio, to be with his relatives. His reason for leaving is that his years are making it inadvisable for him to live alone. Comrade Pillot's case is only one of many that illustrates the great need for a soldiers' sanitarium in Florida—the location of which pre-eminently belongs to St. Cloud.

"The Midnight Patrol" is the great special attraction secured by Manager Woodbeck for the patrons of the Palm theater here this Saturday night. This picture has been a great drawing card wherever it has been shown. The policemen used in reproducing the picture are real officers of the law in California, where the underground opium dens were used as a stage setting for part of the picture.

Mrs. W. S. Reynolds and a granddaughter, Miss Ruth Stewart, from Wichita, Kan., are visiting the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Buckmaster, and her brother, Dr. O. L. Buckmaster and family, in St Cloud. They are spending part of their time with Mrs. Reynolds's brother, Dr. R. P. Buckmaster, and his family, at Orlando, Fla. The visitors are delighted with Florida and the Southland in general. They will leave for their home on or about the 15th of the month. A family reunion of the Buckmasters took place here last Sunday—the first time within twenty years that Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Buckmaster and all their children have been together at one time.

FAREWELL DINNER IN HONOR OF MR. AND MRS. HOUSTON.

One day early last week a feature at the New St. Cloud hotel was a farewell dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Houston and their niece, Miss Houston.

The host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Reamer, who are winter visitors from Franklin, Pa.

Others who comprised the affair's twelve participants were Mr. and Mrs A. D. Harman and daughter, Miss Harman, Mr. and Mrs. B. Dalby, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kiehl, and Mrs. Josie Harman.

The Houstons have returned to their Northern home, at Latrobe, Pa.

This item was accidentally omitted last week.

Seen and Heard at Curb Market

The western curb of Pennsylvania avenue between Tenth and Eleventh streets was closely lined with automobiles, wagons, and wheelbarrows of persons who were vending their products on our curb market last Saturday morn.

Boswell's Wares And Crops.

J. H. Boswell, one of St. Cloud's best-known gardeners, was there with such a quantity of produce that scarcely can it be understood how he got it there in one barrow load—duck eggs, chicken ditto, radishes, carrots, dandelion greens, and several other vegetables. Both duck and chicken fruit sold at 40 cents a dozen.

Mr. Boswell says this season's weather has been "the toughest" he has experienced in his several years of Florida gardening and has damaged his crops considerably. He has a fine lot of corn coming on, nevertheless, and that it is silking out excellently and will produce roasting ears two weeks from now.

Indian Runner is the variety of his ducks. "They never quit laying," he said. He is beginning to raise rabbits also.

Whites Had Plenty Of Grapefruit.

G. H. and Mrs. White, from one and one-half miles north of Ashton, were selling fresh pork, sweet potatoes, and a lot of small but bright and fine-looking grapefruit.

Brown There With Papayas.

C. L. Brown of Twelfth and Wisconsin had a basket of papayas, one being almost as large as a quart measure. The reporter, having lived three years on the Florida keys in his boyhood, is familiar with this fruit, but he never before heard it called "tree pumpkin," as is done by some St. Cloud people. The keys residents call them "paw-paws" or "papaws." The correct name, or more correct name, is "papaya"—a Spanish word, pronounced "pah-PAH-yah" (strong accent on second syllable, as with most Spanish words).

Culinary Products Present.

Mrs. Williams had pies, bread, and other culinary products, the appearance of which spelled "more" to a hungry or near-hungry onlooker. She had chicken eggs on sale, too.

HOW FAR IS ORLANDO?

Not So Far That the Statements Of It's Residents Cannot Be Verified

Rather an interesting case has been developed in Orlando. Being so near by, it is well worth publishing here. The statement is sincere—the proof convincing:

F. B. Osborn, carpenter, 402 West America Street, Orlando, Fla., says: "Heavy lifting is what weakened my kidneys a year or so ago and caused backache. At times when I stooped over to pick up a timber, sharp pains struck me across the small of my back and I could hardly straighten again. I laid this trouble to lumbago. My kidneys acted too freely, too. I had to get up often nights on this account. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box and began taking them. They knocked the lumbago out of me and made my kidneys well again."

PLAN INTERIOR OF NEW HOUSE

Decorations Should Harmonize With the Furnishings.

CAREFUL STUDY IS REQUIRED

Design Shows Eight-Room House That Will Be Economical, but Can Be Made Cozy and Comfortable With Little Effort.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

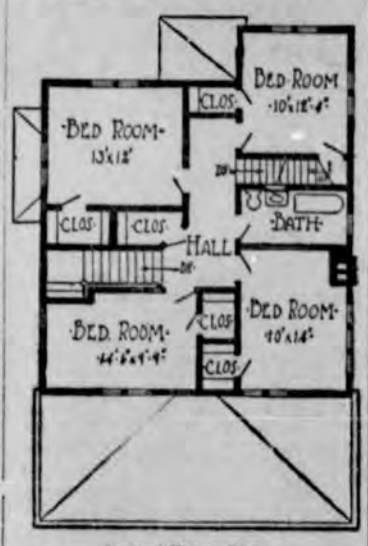
No undertaking ever met with success without having a definite plan. Whether in business, in society or in the home, a plan must first be conceived and executed with care before complete satisfaction is obtained. This truth is realized more frequently in business affairs than in those of the household, but it is nevertheless a fact in every case. It applies particularly to such an undertaking as the decorating of one's home. How many of us ever have a carefully prepared plan of decoration?

In nine cases out of ten the home builder finds himself in the midst of his decorative details before he realizes it, and without a plan at that, and, furthermore, so confused regarding woodwork, wall and floor color treatments, that he hardly knows which way to turn. The first question can be answered, therefore, by two words, "Not many."

How many builders realize what can be accomplished by such a plan? This question can be answered by the same two words. The fact is, that all those who have lived through the building of a home have realized to their sorrow just what more careful planning and careful buying might have accomplished. These questions apply to the entire building, but particularly to the interior decorating, the subject with which we wish to deal.

Details Should Harmonize.

So work out a plan and then plan out the work—know just what kind of furniture, hangings, rugs, etc., are to be used in every room before the architect specifies the kind of wood for the woodwork, the color of brick for fireplace, or, in fact, any of the details which bear directly or indirectly upon the final decorative effect. Know just how these various surfaces are to be treated, how many coats of stain or varnish are to be used on woodwork and floors—the exact color for walls and woodwork before your painting contract is signed.



Second-Floor Plan.

Such a plan of action is not a difficult undertaking. It must naturally be based entirely on the style of architecture chosen for the house, and with this important point decided upon, the plan is built up around it. Very few of us are able to start with a clean slate, but rather it is necessary to use many pieces of old furniture, some of them rare old pieces—heirlooms, possibly—the dining-room table and buffet are comparatively new and their styles satisfactory; then, again, much of the chamber furnishing cannot possibly be changed, nor would be changed if possible. Let the plan of the interior decoration start right here. Decide upon such furnishings as will be permanent, taking one room after another. Consider the relation of furniture to woodwork. If mahogany furniture has the preference, choose it also for the woodwork, or select white enamel, which is equally satisfactory. If, however, the furniture is oak, then let the woodwork be also oak, and stain it to match. Perhaps some objectionable pieces must be used. Don't let this interfere with the plan.

Careful Study Necessary.

So we must know just the kind of furniture, woodwork, floors, etc., desired before we decide on our wall treatment, as well as the kind and color of rugs, hangings and upholstery; then turn these matters over in our minds, study them, confer with others regarding them, seek from those manufacturers who offer decorative assistance, and by such serious consideration acquire a better feeling for color and a knowledge of proper decorative treatments. Many progressive manufacturers have studied their products from an artistic standpoint; many of them are prepared to tell you just the kind and color to select under the conditions you are confronted with. The mantel manufacturer can give you suggestions for the style of your fireplace. The furniture manufacturer will assist you.

FOR BILIOUSNESS AND HEADACHE TAKE A CALOTAB

The New Nauseless Calomel That Is Entirely Purified of All of the Nauseating and Salivating Effects

Do you ever have a bad taste in your mouth in the morning, heavy breath, coated tongue, headache, indigestion, nervousness, with a let-down feeling? You need calomel, but dread to take it. Try Calotabs, the nauseless calomel that is delightful to take and delightful in effect. It is calomel with all of its benefits retained and its unpleasant qualities removed. One tablet at bedtime with a swallow of water, that's all. No taste, no griping, no salts, nor nausea. You wake up in the morning feeling like a two-year-old, bright, cheerful, energetic and with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger of salivation. Calotabs are so entirely delightful to take and so pleasant in effect that your druggist offers to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be delighted with Calotabs.

For your protection Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. At drug stores everywhere.—(ady)

In our progress from one room to another, working out a plan for each, building the schemes up around the satisfactory furnishings we already have, it is of vital importance that the relation of one room to another be considered. Avoid harsh contrasts between rooms just as much as between parts of one room. Let one scheme lead up to another like the notes of musical harmony. Don't lose heart if the first year doesn't bring complete satisfaction throughout the entire house. Little by little the undesirable pieces of furniture and inharmonious hangings will disappear, and behold! a wonderful change has been wrought.

We present here perspective view and floor plan of an eight-room house of very neat, graceful lines, which lends itself very well to careful interior planning and repays with interest the taste and study one will give to this matter. It is an economical structure, 28 feet in width by 36 feet along the depth of the lot, not including front porch. The exterior presents the popular combination of beveled siding from grade up to second story window sills, with cement plaster work above up to the eaves.

Interior Is Cozy.

The interior of this house is cozy and comfortable. A broad porch extends clear across the front. Entrance from the porch is direct into the reception hall. To the right, through a broad doorway is the large living room with its open fireplace and built-in bookcase.

The dining room is directly back of the hall; it has a square bay window with four outward opening casement windows. The kitchen is at the rear corner of the plan, and is separated from the dining room by a large pantry. There is a back stairway from the kitchen in addition to the main stairway in the front hall.

Upstairs are four very nice bedrooms with ample clothes closets.

Every bedroom has cross ventilation, with windows on two sides. The extra generous supply of windows throughout this house, both upstairs and down, stamps it as right up to date.

This house design is one of the most attractive and popular. It is absolutely free of ornamentation and elements that complicate the construction of a house, and so is about as economical as any structure of this size could well be.

Angora Goats For Florida

The Angora Goat is an animal of proven worth in Florida. These animals will produce from 6 to 10 pounds of mohair a year, and mohair has a ready sale in the Boston market at an average of 60 cents a pound.

Angora mutton is worth 10 to 11 cents a pound on the market. The Angora requires but little feeding, is easily handled, and with reasonable care can be made very profitable.

We have 2,000 fully acclimated does and the largest herd of registered bucks in the South. We will begin to shear April 1, and if you are interested in Angoras we suggest that you inspect our herds before that time.

When you buy cattle, hogs or Angora Goats from Walkill Farms you secure acclimated animals, and the value of this cannot be overestimated. We also have Percheron and Belgian brood mares, weighing from fourteen to sixteen hundred pounds, and bred to our high class Spanish Jack.

Governor's Message Is Long But Progressive.

The selection of Wilder as Speaker over Lewis can be regarded with considerable satisfaction, as Lewis was preminently the candidate of what is generally known as "the corporation element."

The Governor's message contained many provisions, and is probably more progressive in its recommendations than any message heretofore presented by a Governor of Florida. The Governor urges favorable action on woman suffrage. A syynopsis of his mesage will be prisnted in next week's Tribune.

Bryan Of Osceola Gets Two Desirable Resolutions Put Thru.

The House ordered the State printer to print and deliver to it 500 copies of the daily journals of the House for use by the officers and members of this body. It was adopted.

Another resolution introduced by Mr. Bryan, and adopted, put a stop to a little near-graft. It relieves official stenographers of the House from taking dictation for and writing letters of a private nature for the House members.

League Of Nations And President Unanimously Adopted By The Senate.

The first official business of a public nature transacted by the Senate was the unanimous adoption of a resolution presented by Senator Lincoln F. Hulley of Volusia county endorsing the principle of the league of nations and expressing absolute confidence in President Wilson and his conferees at Paris.

Senator Singeltary introduced a concurrent resolution proposing a constitutional convention for the revision of the State Constitution.

Amos Urges State Insure Bank Funds.

Comptroller Amos, who has charge of State banking regulations, urges the Legislature to enact a law for State insurance of bank deposits. He would have this done in one of two ways—have each bank put up a surety bond or have all the banks contribute to a State insurance fund.

LONGEVITY CLASS AT FORMER HOME OF BEAUCHAMPS

From the North Manchester (Ind.) News is taken some interesting information about the longevity of some of that locality's residents. North Manchester is the birthplace of Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Beauchamp of St. Cloud and where Mr. Beauchamp throut a number of years was publisher of a newspaper, beginning at a time when newspaperdom in that city was in its infancy.

North Manchester has a "Ninety Class," which gathers occasionally to celebrate some event, such as birthdays, etc. Its membership is limited to personse 90 or more years old, but the allow "young" persons of 80-odd years to come and sit around and speak a few words occasionally, so to say—provided the "youngsters" are real good and do not intrude themselves too much upon the attention of their elders

Recently this class observed the birthday of one of its members, Mrs. Caroline Strickler, who had arrived at her 93d year. Others scheduled to attend the meeting were Mrs. Olive Marine (95), Philip Walters (91), Mrs. Magdalena Keister (91), and Isaac Shock (90). Among some of the young folks specially invited were Mrs. Lizzie Lautzenhiser (89), John Miller (89), and Mrs. John Miller (88).

Mr. Beauchamp, speaking of his Indiana friends, sayid: "If they would all come to St. Cloud, they might march far into the next century."

Mac Arrowsmith arrived home from from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., today, having been discharged from Uncle Sam's military service. He will remain here and do his part in the work of building a greater St. Cloud.

Elmer Baker, grandson of Mrs. Annie Blaich, arrived in St. Cloud on Wednesday. Previous news stated he would not be able to get here because of the shortness of his leave of absence from the United States navy. He formerly was employed in Lawson's grocery in St. Cloud.

Fisticuffs Cause Some Wild Reports

Several fisticuff encounters occurred on Eleventh street between New York and Pennsylvania avenues last Saturday afternoon that were not creditable to those who caused them.

About 4 p. m. Milkman Brooks was delivering milk to the Badger restaurant, at Eleventh and Pennsylvania, when one or two of the younger Cracker residents of this vicinity stopped him and took him to task about some disparaging remarks Mr. Broks is alleged to have made about native Floridans.

Mr. Brooks went into the restaurant, and Robert Montsdoca followed him in and asked him to come out into the street and have it out a la John L. Sullivan.

Brooks was not looking for that sort of trouble just then, and he declined to go out. Montsdoca insisted, and the two women proprietors of the restaurant stood between the two men and endeavored to persuade Montsdoca to leave. While the latter was stil urging Broks to come out, the marshal stepped into the restaurant and pushed his brother (Montsdoca) out to the sidewalk and told Brooks to follow him (marshal) and the latter would see that the milkman got to his milk wagon and away. Brooks hesitated several seconds, and then briskly started out, the marshal walking briskly ahead of him.

As Brooks arrived at the curbstone, Robert Montsdoca spoke a few bitter words at him and stepped swiftly forward and hit Brooks on his head and knocked the latter down.

A bystander grabbed Montsdoca from behind and kept him from hitting the milkman again. The marshal heard the commotion behind him, turned, saw Brooks starting to rise from the ground, assisted the latter up, and escorted him to his wagon, in the meantime fending two other young Crackers from Brooks. The marshal got Brooks into the wagon without any more blows being struck and sprang back as Brooks grabbed the reins. Then a young Cracker sprang forward and tried to grab Brooks from his wagon, but the team was moving off and the attacker had to desist or be run over, and Brooks got away with only the one blow—so far as the reporter knows. The reporter was close up when the foregoing incidents occurred and saw and heard all that was done or said, tho he was not present when the argument or fuss began.

Montsdoca turned on the man who had held him, and the two nearly had a fist fight, tho no blows were passed.

Just as Brooks got away, the reporter saw a young man (said to be Ackies McClelland) snatch at W. H. Tunnicliffe's face with one hand and immediately afterwards hit him a staggering fist blow with the other on the side of his (T.'s) head. This was directly in front of the restaurant, in the midst of a crowd that had gathered in the middle of the street. Whether Mr. Tunnicliffe had said anything or not to enbroil him, the reporter does not know at this time. He was struck twice or thrice more and soon went away.

The marshal hastened to the spot and assisted Mr. Tunnicliffe in getting away.

Capt. J. F. Farris was in the crowd at this point, and it seems that he interefered in an effort to preserve order, and he soon became a storm center. No blows wre struck, however, and the excited young natives moved off toward the postoffice, two of them having been led in that direction by their women folks, who were scolding them for their conduct. They promised to behave, but within several minutes more they got off again and began declaring what they wanted to do to some one or several some ones who had said or done something or other.

Capt. Farris then got into another storm center, but nothing came of it but some high words and threats. The captain had one cheek slightly scratched, and the reporter asked him if he had been struck. The reporter understood him to say "no," and asked how he got his scratch, but the captain did not seem to care to talk about it.

Joe Phipps was standing at the curbstone several minutes later, and one of the rampant young natives landed on him. This is said to be due a personal grudge the hitter had against Joe. The reporter did not see this.

About this time Edd George drove up in his automobile and stopped in front of Brammar's store. Robert Montsdoca went over to him and invited Mr. George to get out and have it out with him (M.). Mr. George could not see it that way, and Montsdoca reached in to pull him out. Mr. George resisted, and Montsdoca slapped him. Two women were in the rear seat of the automobile, and one of them wrestled with and fought off Montsdoca while he was trying to pull George from the automobile. The latter finally started the car and rolled away in it, with Montsdoca vainly trying to clamber into it, but having to let go within a few seconds.

Joe Tracey is said to have hit some one—whom, the writer does not know.

The reporter did not see the beginning of the George-Montsdoca fuss, but he saw most of it later from a point about fifteen feet behind the automobile.

There was no boisterous conduct nor loud talking in the restaurant between Montsdoca and Brooks.

The reporter heard no obscenity uttered by anybody at any time, and he was there from almost the beginning of the disturbance and until its wind-up. Several times he heard an euraged young native utter a few curses and and occasionally an obnoxious epithet, but none of those who had done any of the scrapping. Three or four times an excited young native would fling his hat onto the pavement in the street and express himself heatedly, and occasionally profanely, but in each instance it was a sort of general declaration. Most of the language really was unintelligible even to those who were only a few feet away. The reporter knows this personally—and his hearing and eyesight are better than the average.

What Brooks Is Alleged To Have Said.

Two or three days later the reporter interviewed Mr. Brooks about the matter and told the latter that he (reporter had heard that he (Brooks) had made a remark to the effect that Cracker children should have separate schools because they were not fit to go to school with children of Northern parentage. Mr. Broks denied ever having said anything of the sort and said he had lived here six years and had always had amicable relations with his Cracker neighbors and acquaintances.

The reporter stated that some persons said "politics" had caused it. To which Mr. Brooks said he could not see how "politics" would connect him with it, because he lives quite a distance out of the city and is not a voter here and has not taken any side in the local disputes about the city government.

He said he could offer no explanation of the attack on him other than that the attack on him was due to the young natives having taken too many drinks and that in his case it had been an instance of mistaken identity.

He thought perhaps the better thing would be for the Tribune not to print anything about the trouble.

The reporter told young Montsdoca that he had heard of Mr. Brooks's remark about Yankee and Cracker children going to school together and asked for Montsdoca's version of it. "It was worse than that," said Montsdoca. "He said the Cracker children were not as good as niggers."

Grudge Against Others.

The reporter heard street talk some time ago to the effect that Messrs. Tunnicliffe, George, McCarthy, and a couple of others had been making sneering remarks about the Crackers and that they were "liable to get their snoots punched if a good opportunity comes around." It is said that Messrs Tunnicliffe, McCarthy, and George deny having made any such remarks.

When the excitement was under way, some friends of Messrs. Tunnicliffe and George demanded of the marshal that he arrest the excited scrappers. The marshal replied to the effect that he would prefer them have Mr. Bower's "deputy marshals" make the arrests; that he would help them make the arrests, but that he did not care to do it alone.

The reporter later asked the marshal if the latter intended to arrest the disturbers. The marshal replied:

"All of them will have to show up in the police court and pay a fine as soon as we can find out who will hold the police court."

The marshal further said the trouble was not serious enough for him to make arrests at the risk of killing some one, as he would have had to do if he had arrested any one at the time of the excitement. Nothing but fists was used and no weapon of any sort was in sight other than the pistol carried by the marshal.

B. F. Ralls, one of St. Cloud's well-known real-estate agents, nearly got into the melee because he laughed at the Montsdoca-George fracas. He had just arrived, and thought at first it was a bit of "horse play" and laughed noticeably at it as it was concluded by the automobile leaving Montsdoca in the lurch. The latter did not like Mr. Ralls's merriment, and spoke some of his mind to that effect.

Coldest March Known in St. Cloud

WEATHER OF THIS MARCH CONFORMS TO LAMB-AND-LION AXIOM —RAINIEST WINTER KNOWN IN MANY YEARS—SCARCELY ANY FROST VISITED ST. CLOUD AND VICINITY.

City Councilman W. G. King has recorded weather temperatures in St. Cloud about nine years, or approximately ever since he has been a resident of this community.

He asserts this is the coldest March he has experienced since he came here, and an inspection of temperatures published in the Tribune thruout the city's history will show this is a correct assertion. The figures for the last three years were easily available, and are printed below, showing a wide difference between the temperatures of this March and those of 1917 and 1918. They show the average low, the average high, and the average mean temperatures.

Average High, Average Low, And Average Mean Temperatures For March.

	MAXIMUM			MINIMUM			MEAN
Month—	1917.	1918.	1919.	1917.	1918.	1919.	1917.	1918.	1919.
January.....	74	64	68	54	44	48½	64	54	58½
February....	71	76½	69	49	55½	52	60	66	60½
March.....	79	80½	76	57	60	56½	80½	70¼	66¼

The lowest temperature at any time this winter was on Jan. 5, when 30 degrees (2 degrees below freezing) was registered.

February's lowest was on the 25th—35 degrees.

The low temperatures of the winter here evidently were of short duration, because St. Cloud has experienced virtually no frost damage this season. Not a banana plant has been seen that was worse than slightly touched. Most of the sweet-potato vines were not killed. Bermuda grass remained green thruout the winter. These are three types of vegetation that are quite sensitive to frost. All Bermuda grass in Kissimmee was killed, unless in a sheltered spot.

Comrade R. Brisco, who farms more than a mile northwest of St. Cloud, says his locality is one exposed or susceptible to frost damage, but that his frost loss this winter is not worth accounting for. Some of his tomato plants were "scorched" a little—the worst harm he experienced.

Season Cloudy And Rainy.

The winter has been cloudy and wet, however. Persons who have long resided in the county say its rainfall has not been equaled since more than twenty years ago—that is, for this time of the year.

This has been true all over the State. The lakes hereabouts have been higher this winter than within many years. Railroad trains had to make a detour into Georgia in order to avoid the overflowed Suwannee river—this on the railway from Jacksonville to Pensacola.

That well-known and time-worn axiom to the effect that a March that comes in like a lamb will go out like a lion was corroborated in Florida this year; in fact, it seems to have been the case thruout the United States.

The beginning of March was mild; the ending was cold and cloudy.

LARGE AND ACTIVE PROGRAM IS PLANNED BY NEW COUNTY AGENT.

Dr. K. Thor Weaver, lately appointed agricultural adviser for Osceola county, made his first official visit to St. Cloud yesterday—Wednesday.

Dr. Weaver, who comes from Pasco county to take the place of M. M. Jaycox, transferred to Lake county, visited the Tribune office and told something of his plans for his work in Osceola county.

Probably chief among the activities Mr. Weaver will try to develop in this county is that of co-operative dairying, butter-making, cheesemaking, etc.

He announces he will be in St. Cloud every Friday, and that his services will be just as gladly and freely at this disposal of the man who has only one orange tree as they will be for the owner of a 100-acre grove.

Whoever wants his services need only leave a message for him at the Tribune office or write to him at Kissimmee. Be sure to tell explicitly the location of the premises where his presence is desired.

Mr. Weaver will keep gardeners, cattlemen, farmers, horticulturists, etc., in this vicinity fully informed of his plans and activities of general or special interest, using the Tribune as his principal medium of expression for this section.

Comrade Griffin Demonstrates Apples Can Be Grown in St. Cloud

Lemuel Griffin, whose home is on Kentucky avenue between Sixth and Seventh, has an apple tree there whereby he has demonstrated that apples can be grown in this climate.

The secret of Comrade Griffin's success, as far as he has gone with his experiment, seems to be SHADE.

He has two apple trees. One is out where it is exposed to considerable sunshine, tho not completely so. It produces nothing.

The other tree is rooted close against his kitchen. It gets sunshine only two or three hours in the day—at noon. The house shades it in the afternoon; an orange tree, or several of them, keep off the sun in the morning.

The tree now is in bloom, or was several days ago. It is five years old and is about fifteen feet high, having acquired a sapling-like growth, being only two to four inches thick—mostly three inches. In fact, it is so slender that it has been braced to keep it from being blown over. The tree is a "volunteer."

The bush or leafy part of the tree is small, having a width and depth diameter or dimension of not more than five feet.

Like Topsy—it just growed. Its diameter is small for its height, being two to four inches thick, but mostly three inches or less. The variety is unknown.

The tree bore more than a dozen apples two years ago, a few more last year, and seemingly will produce a few more this year.

The fruit is excellent of flavor and rather small-medium, or slightly more than two inches in diameter.

While Mr. Griffin's experiment may be said to be "accidental," it nevertheless may have proved how apples can be produced in this climate.
